DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over by (US 2003/0161246 A1).

Regarding claim 1, 8, 9 and 10, Chuang discloses a holographic apparatus comprising: a light source (10 of Fig. 1), a beam splitter (20 of Fig. 1), a mask (50 of Fig. 1) for modulating a signal beam to generate a modulated signal beam; a conical prism (70 of Fig. 1), which includes a cone portion a base portion (see Fig. 2 and 3), for refracting a reference beam (26 of Fig. 1) to generate a refracted reference beam, wherein the refracted reference beam interferes with the modulated signal beam (23 of Fig. 1) in a holographic medium (60 of Fig. 1) to thereby record data thereon, the base portion facing the holographic medium (see Fig. 2). Chaung discloses the conical mirror having a base portion facing the holographic medium. However, the prism is shown facing the opposite direction.

It would have been obvious, at the time the invention was made, to a person having ordinary skill in the art to position conical prism in any manner, including the option of having the base facing the holographic medium, as long as the beam has a cylindrical symmetrical shape (see Abstract).

Regarding claim 2, Chuang inherently discloses the optical path of the refracted reference beam depending on a refractive index of the conical prism.

Regarding claims 3-7, Chuang is not explicit on changing the Base angle of the prism or the distance to the holographic medium for multiplexing; or bonding the value of the angle of incidence.

However, the optimization of such parameters is achieved by routine experimentation, which does not serve as basis for patentability.

It would have been obvious, at the time the invention was made, to a person having ordinary skill in the art to experiment with the values of the base angle, the distance to the holographic or the value of the angle of incidence so as to reduce intensity variations between reconstructed multiplexed holograms.

In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233,235.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
